Carlisle, as Minister to Stockholm, and inquired if it was his intention to send in others for these positions. The Secretary replied that he had decided not to send in more nominations, but under these circumstances the President would probably make no nominations for these positions.

Mr. Sylvester Mooney arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon via the Pacific Road, in eight and one-half days from San Francisco, including nine hours staging, thereby eight hours delay in making connections, and three hundred and twenty miles on slow moving construction trains at the ends of the two roads. On the 17th instant, there were twenty miles of the road to build to effect the junction of the Union & Central Pacific. The details, by mail, of the loss of the Pacific Mail Company's steamer, Hermann, on a reef off the Japanese coast on the night of February 13, show that about two hundred persons were drowned, fifty-eight escaping after clinging to the rigging for hours. Two of the steamer's boats were swamped in trying to land, and quite a number of persons were killed by the falling of a gunnel on the hurricane deck where they were collected. The survivors walked across the country to Yokohama, a distance of nearly one hundred miles. They were very kindly treated by the natives along their route.

The Democratic paper recently started at Toledo, we learn, has already been sold to the highest bidder to satisfy an execution for debt.

We learn that Hon. Samuel Shellabarger, our new Minister to Portugal, will leave for Europe in a short time. This is a position Mr. Shellabarger is eminently qualified to fill, and will also afford him good opportunities to reinforce his health, the feebleness of which caused him to decline a re-nomination to Congress last year.

LORD STANLEY thinks that in the late abortive Alabama negotiations the British Government have secured the main point; they have satisfied their own consciences. It is gratifying to learn that they had consciences. There was no evidence to that effect during the war, and not much since.—C. Herald.

The extra session of the United States Senate has adjourned after confirming nearly all the appointments made by the President. A few were rejected, and a small number of nominations were not reached. During the last hour of the session, Senators Sprague and Abbott made themselves ridiculous, before the whole country, by entering into a disgraceful personal quarrel. Sprague has lately attracted a great deal of attention by much blowing, and came well nigh blowing away what little reputation he had attained.

We have received the second number of the TEMPERANCE ERA, published at Cleveland, O., under the direction of the new Political State Temperance Organizations. The paper is a neat sheet, well printed and contains many articles worthy of commendation; but as this organ begins its career by waging war upon the Republican party, it cannot get any sympathy from us, and we hope there will not be found a single Republican in Wyandot county to contribute a cent for its support. The Republicans of Ohio have generally aimed to secure for State offices, and other important positions, men of well known temperate habits and pure characters. There are other evils besides that of intemperance in the land, and they are most discreet who use their influence, in their proper sphere, against them all. It has often seemed to us that some self-righteous men delight in magnifying the faults of their neighbors and thus, as they think, conceal their own, which although of a different character, may be far blacker. What consistency is there in Mr. A. rebuking his friend B. for drinking his occasional glass, while his (A's) mouth is so crammed with filthy tobacco that he can hardly speak? If we would all begin the work of reform at home and set a practical example before the world, the result would be better for all concerned.

The Era is dead drunk with impractical ideas. The Imperialist is the title of a paper just issued at New York. It proclaims that Republican Government in this country is a failure, advocates revolution and the enthronement of an Emperor. We have read some extracts from this paper and have concluded that the Imperialist originated in the brains of political fools of the lowest possible order. It holds up with admiration the existing state of things in France, and proposes the inauguration of a second Napoleon in this country. Now it is but a short time since a certain French editor was fined and incarcerated for advocating ideas distasteful to said Napoleon, and as the doctrine of the Imperialist is revolutionary, unconstitutional and utterly disgusting to every American who loves the old flag, would it not be well to give its editors a taste of Napoleonic Government by putting them in a similar cell as now occupied by the man who dared to speak his sentiments in France.

If there be those who don't like our Government and Laws, they can very easily get rid of them by getting on a ship and sail for a country where an Emperor is on the throne. For our part we lived under a despotic Government the first twelve years of our life, and we are certain that if the American people had any true idea of the hatefulness of Imperial rule, they would be slow to find fault with the benign Government under which they live. One thing we are sure of is, that the brave American people will oppose with tenfold more deadly resistance any effort to enthronement of an Emperor in this country than they did the late rebellion. Such project is an absolute impossibility, and should an effort to that end be made, its leaders would soon find themselves in a horrible maelstrom which would draw them down to the regions where Imperialism and Despotism originated.

These mal-contented conductors of the Imperialist are engaged in the nefarious works of preaching treason, and we do not hesitate to say that a traitor's fate should be meted out to them.

The Marion Co. Mirror, an ultra Vallandigham paper, of last week gives the Ohio Democratic Legislature the following piece of advice: "We think the best thing the Ohio Legislature can do is to follow the example of the U. S. House of Representatives and adjourn." Their session is becoming oppressive to the people, not to say decidedly expensive, without yielding a corresponding benefit. Such shilly-shallying and namby-jambying has hardly its equal in legislation. Halt the time there is not enough Democrats present to prevent the Republicans from controlling things, and when a majority is present they cannot establish sufficient harmony to carry a point.

Thus way the Democratic papers are howling at President Grant, reminds us of dogs sitting on their tails and vigorously barking at the moon, and it will do them about as much good too.

Imperialism and Expansion.
The Cincinnati Commercial, falling in with the prevailing heresy of Imperialism, and following in the wake of the organ of that idea recently established, has a prominent editorial article in favor of it. It is pleased to call "The Imperialist," suggesting a continental convention to consolidate all the communities of this continent into a grand republic, to be ruled from the Washington agency, or, in short by an emperor! To render this treasonable proposition palatable, the Commercial describes a magnificent prospect of the future of the country, when the Canadas and South American Islands and States are united under a common Government.—Columbus Crisis.
